Michael Griffiths and Hsun-Hui Tseng  Day/Time: T 4:10PM-6:00PM
This course will introduce students to various political, social, and economic concepts that have shaped and shifted in relation to the globalizing world of the twenty-first century. Such enlightenment concepts as liberalism, the public sphere, the market, and the modern nation state will be subjected to a genealogy that also takes seriously the fact that as these concepts globalize they reform and alter. Taking an interdisciplinary approach, this course will provoke students to ask why intellectuals from scholars to policy makers to artists have addressed the simultaneous connectedness and disconnection that comes with globality.

Using an interdisciplinary approach, this seminar will explore Japanese urbanism and Tokyo. Urban theories, history, geography, fictions, films, sociology and anthropology along with cultural critiques will help situate the more personal experiences of the metropolis and the new "global city." In considering the formation of urban/geographical entities, its infrastructure and underlying ideologies of these urban constructs, we will also attempt to uncover the mechanisms of the development of collective identities and individual reconciliations. Theoretical readings, traditional strategies for penetrating cities will be juxtaposed to literature, film and personal testimonies.

REL I W4310  Section 001  Call #86033  Location: IAB 913  Pts: 4
Gray W Tuttle  Day/Time: T 12:10 PM to 2:00 PM
This course engages the genre of life writing in Tibetan Buddhist culture, addressing the permeable and fluid nature of this important sphere of Tibetan literature. Through Tibetan biographies, hagiographies, and autobiographies, the class will consider questions about how life-writing overlaps with religious doctrine, philosophy, and history. For comparative purposes, we will read life writing from Western (and Japanese or Chinese?) authors, for instance accounts of the lives of Christian saints, raising questions about the cultural relativity of what makes up a life’s story. Literary Critical and other theoretical sources are assigned weekly to support and deepen our discussions of the primary source materials.

Admission to Chinese Courses: Please see EALAC for information on the language placement test and schedule. Please also note that students whose native language is not English are not required to take an additional foreign language if they have completed the secondary school requirement in the native language.

For more information on Chinese language courses please visit the Chinese Language Program website at <http://www.columbia.edu/cu/ealac/chinese/>

Introductory Chinese For beginners who wish to study Chinese at a slower pace. The entire course consists of two parts covering the same material as the first semester of Elementary Chinese (C1101/F1101). Students who have successfully completed the Courses I and II (W1010-1011) will be admitted to Elementary Chinese II (C1102y/F1102y) in the spring semester. Alternatively a student graduated from Course I and/or II can choose to study in a summer or another program and be placed into the intermediate Chinese course if he or she passes the placement test.

Elementary Chinese (Level 1)

N-Sections: For students with zero or limited background in Chinese.

W-Sections: For students of Chinese heritage or advanced beginners with Mandarin speaking ability but minimal reading and writing skills.

Note: Advanced beginners or heritage students who can speak Mandarin will NOT be accepted into the N sections.

Intermediate Chinese (Level 2)

N-Sections: Continuation of Elementary Chinese N focusing on further development of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills.

W-Sections: Continuation of Elementary Chinese W focusing on reading skills and written language. Open to students of Chinese heritage or those with good speaking skills in Chinese only.

Advanced Chinese I (Level 3)

N-Sections: Continuation of the Intermediate N course focusing on more sophisticated language usage and fluency as well as reading skills with systematic vocabulary expansion.
W-Section: Continuation of Intermediate W courses focusing on practical writing skills and semiformal or formal style of Chinese used in various professional settings. Open to students with good speaking skills in Chinese only.

Other Advanced Courses (Levels 4-5) Please see the course list.
